

Martha Campbell

the member now sees in their profile page timeline that the event was in fact "created". This same Timeline notice also appears on the site's main home page Activity Timeline, for ALL to see (I logged in as another regular member and saw it on the main page timeline. Yet when other members click on it from the Timeline, they get a PAGE NOT FOUND at that event's URL. I foresee my getting a whole lot of puzzled messages on this issue every time an event is pending...from both the member creating the event and from those clicking on it from the Index page timeline.
